

Tennessee Financial Aid Verification Resources

Verification is a process by which the U.S. Department of Education requires higher education institutions to verify or confirm the information that was reported on the FAFSA (Free Application for Federal Student Aid) for randomly selected students and parents. If you are selected for verification, you will be notified by your institution; you may be required to complete verification worksheets and provide documentation that supports the income and other information you reported on the FAFSA. Visit the links below for institution-specific financial aid and verification information.
